

Martial Law In Bolivia

Plane With Illicit Cargo Forced Down By Fighter Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today modified martial law has been decreed in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, where four U.S. citizens and a Brazilian aboard a cargo plane were forced down by Bolivian fighter planes.

The department said Bolivian President Victor Paz Estenssoro decreed Santa Cruz a military zone, declaring a "situation of anarchy" exists there "as evidenced by the interception of a plane which had brought in an illicit cargo."

A Bolivian fighter pilot was killed in the crash of his plane just as the cargo plane landed, the department said.

Officials here said they are awaiting a detailed report from the U.S. Embassy at La Paz to clear up many details of the situation.

They said they had no official information concerning the cargo the plane, a Constellation, was carrying.

Officials of the embassy visited the four Americans, all of whom gave Florida addresses, and reported them in good condition except for colds, the department said.

It added that it had no information concerning official accusations against the five men, except that they were held for violation of Bolivian customs regulations.

The State Department said the encounter with the Bolivian fighters took place July 30 shortly after the Constellation had taken off after a one-day stay in Santa Cruz, but details of what happened were slow coming through.

The decree of modified martial law spoke of a breakdown of authority in Santa Cruz "giving rise to acts of violence and prolific smuggling activities."

11th Birthday Observance For Princess

LONDON (AP)—Her Royal Highness Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of the House of Windsor—the palace tomboy with the long name and short hair—was 11 today.

From her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, she inherited her love of horses.

From her father, Prince Philip, she inherited a love of sports.

From her aunt, Princess Margaret, a talent for mimicry.

Anne was given a pony at the age of 4 and learned to ride him in a very short time.

Before she was 6, she invented a game of tricycle polo.

She can at times be a bit of a devil.

Buckingham Palace once had a very tall footman. Every time Anne passed him she would stop and stare up at his face.

One day when she found the footman standing, lofty and impassive, beside a door, she pulled up a chair, mounted it and got her first close look at his face.

"Thank you," she said, "I just wanted to see what you looked like."

Her more reserved brother, Prince Charles, 20 months older, commented with boyish disgust: "My sister!"

Until a few years ago Anne liked to play cowboy. Then someone gave her a feathered Indian headdress. That day she went over to the Indians.

Anne celebrated her birthday today at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with the rest of the royal family.

School Aid Bill Still Is Alive

Sen. Mansfield Says There's Hope In This Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today the Kennedy administration's public school aid bill is still alive in Congress. But he did not express anything stronger than hope for it.

There have been indications, accepted by many of the measure's supporters, that the $2.5-billion school construction and salary bill has fallen by the wayside. It is now locked up in the House Rules Committee, where a group of Republicans and Roman Catholic members have voted to keep it off the House floor.

The measure encountered opposition on both economic and religious grounds. As proposed by Kennedy, it made no provision for federal aid to private or parochial schools. Some Catholic members objected to passage without some form of help for church schools.

Another measure which would authorize loans to parochial schools, as an extension of the defense education law, also is snarled in the House Rules Committee.

A third education bill, to continue federal aid to schools crowded with children of federal employees, ran into new trouble in the Senate today. The threat came from proposals to tack features of the general school and defense education bills onto it.

Mansfield told newsmen after he and other Democratic leaders met at the White House with President Kennedy that the administration's major school bill "is not dead."

"As long as we are in session, there is still hope," he said.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said the general school bill was mentioned "incidentally" in the White House meeting but no conclusions were reached. He said a great many Congress members "have a disposition to do something about it."

Fred Heinkel Re-elected As MFA President

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Fred V. Heinkel of Columbia, president of the Missouri Farmers Association since 1941, was re-elected unanimously Monday at the 43rd annual convention.

Vice President L. O. Wallis of Springfield also was re-elected.

Chosen as district directors for 3-year terms were:

Turpin Youtsey, Gallatin; John F. Conrad, Clarksville; D. T. Weekley, Blackwater; E. H. Straughan, Farmington; A. Neuen-schwander, Deepwater, and Cecil Letsinger, Mansfield.

Dale Ream of Unionville was named to replace George Collins, Chillicothe, as District 2 director.

Richard Miller, of Cassville, Norman Gibson of Sedalia, and Lawrence Kullman of Warrensburg were elected directors-at-large.

The convention adopted resolutions endorsing Missouri's proposed gasoline tax increase, the driver's license point system, a permanent state speed law, penalties for drunken driving, and addition of 50 men to the Highway Patrol.

Smoking Warning Is Issued

Recent Ordinance Makes It Illegal To Smoke In Bed

It is against the law for a person to smoke in bed at any hotel, motel, boarding or rooming house in accordance with a recently passed ordinance of the Sedalia City Council. And this week the Fire Department did more than just announce the ordinance had been passed—it has issued warnings.

Fire Chief Emmet Vaught visited every hotel and motel in Sedalia this past week and presented the ordinance to the operator or operators with a copy of Ordinance No. 6052 which deems it a misdemeanor for such an act. The ordinance grew out of a request from the Fire Department after several fires had started from persons smoking in bed.

Chief Vaught not only presented the copies of the ordinance but warning cards were placed in each room. The card, six by four inches is printed in red.

On the card is printed "WARNING. No Smoking In Bed." Also it points out, "It is a violation of Ordinance No. 6052 to smoke in bed in any Hotel, Motel, Boarding or Rooming House. Violation of this ordinance is punishable by a fine not to exceed $100, imprisonment in the city jail not to exceed 90 days or by both such fine and imprisonment. This notice is to be displayed prominently in sleeping rooms of hotel, motels, boarding or rooming houses. THE SEDALIA FIRE DEPARTMENT."

"If this warning saves only one life it is worth it," Chief Vaught said. "Many people do not realize the danger of smoking in bed when they read just before retiring. They hear it talked and read it in the newspapers, but they still must have that warning."

"We received excellent cooperation from every operator of the hotels and motels when we presented them with the ordinance and the warning cards," Vaught reported.

Algoa Escapees Surrender To Patrol Trooper

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A two-day search ended Monday night when two escapees from Algoa Intermediate Reformatory surrendered to a highway patrolman north of Belle.

The patrol identified them as Clement Peine, 25, serving five years from Pike County for tampering with an automobile, and Donald Litton, 24, serving 10 years for a Gasconade County forgery.

They slipped away from the reformatory Saturday afternoon. Later a car was reported stolen in Jefferson City and the patrol said the fugitives apparently took it. Bloodhounds, a patrol plane and several cars joined in the search before the men gave themselves up.

Rayburn Sees Good Aid Bill

Contents We Can't Be In the World And Not Of It

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas predicted today Congress will pass a "pretty good" foreign aid bill which will enable the administration to accomplish its objectives.

"We can't be in this world and not of it," Rayburn said after he and other Democratic congressional leaders breakfasted with President Kennedy at the White House.

Rayburn said it was still uncertain just what amendments might be pinned on the administration bill, and remarked that "a terrific campaign" had been waged against any kind of aid bill whatsoever.

The United States, however, must shoulder its responsibility as leader of the free world, Rayburn said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the breakfast meeting with Kennedy was so involved with foreign aid strategy that little else was discussed.

Senate votes were in prospect before the day's end on a number of hotly contested efforts to change the administration bill.

Plan to Submit Protests On Border Closing

LONDON (AP)—The Western commandants in Berlin have decided to submit written protests to Soviet authorities against Communist border restrictions, British Foreign Office spokesman said today.

The British, U.S. and French governments are drawing up the protest, the spokesman said, and "I do not expect it will be long delayed."

The decision to make written, rather than oral, protests arose from the intention of the Western powers to make their position precisely understood, it was reported.

The spokesman refused to be drawn into a discussion on West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's statement that the Western powers may cut off trade with the Soviet bloc.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Randal Allen Ellington, 5, drowned in an indoor municipal swimming pool in St. Louis Monday.

Artificial respiration was used in vain.

The boy, son of Mrs. Norma Whitfield, was dead on arrival at City Hospital.

Two Others Expand

Industry Report Shows Two New Operations Here

Two new industries located in Sedalia during the first half of 1961, and two industries expanded their operations in the same period, according to the latest report from the Missouri Resources and Development Commission.

The two new industries were the American Engineering Co. and the Trans-O-Matic Co., a firm making garage door controls, according to James Idol, director of the commission. The expanding industries were the MFA poultry division and the Zephyr Manufacturing Co., according to Idol.

In addition, new industries, one in each city, were listed in Clinton, Sweet Springs and Versailles. Information on these industries is not available, Idol said, because it is against the policy of the commission to release information, for business reasons, on new industries.

The commission report also listed Sedalia as one of 11 Missouri cities giving financial aid to industry during the period. The source of aid and the name of the firm or firms receiving aid were not made public. Sam Boyle of the local Chamber of Commerce said the aid did not come from the chamber.

A record number of new plants were located in Missouri during the first half of 1961, according to Idol. The 66 new plants picking Missouri as their home were the greatest number to announce during the first half of any year in the state, Idol said. The figure represents a 22 per cent increase over the same period last year and is more than 200 per cent

West Berliners In Mass Protest Demonstration

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists tightened the screws on West Berlin today and the West opened a campaign of pressure and protest against Russia and her East German satellite.

U.S., British and French military commanders sent sharp notes to Col. Andrei I. Solovjev, the Soviet commandant at Karlshorst in East Berlin protesting the "illegal measures" taken by the East German regime against travel in Berlin.

With tempers flaring on both sides of the new Iron Curtain, Mayor Willy Brandt called West Berliners to a mass protest demonstration outside City Hall Wednesday.

He issued the call after the Communists turned out troops and tanks to enforce a new Iron Curtain across Berlin.

Possible plans to apply the pressure of trade embargoes against East Germany or the whole Communist bloc were reported from Bonn, Washington and London.

The military commandants' letter called the East German action "the most flagrant violation" of the city's status since the Soviet blockade 11 years ago.

The Western military commanders acted against a background of German demands for more than paper protests against Communist orders that bit by bit are closing West Berlin off from travel in and out by Germans.

The latest order by the East German interior ministry barred West Berlin motorists from entering East Berlin unless they get special permits. West Germans already had been barred except by a special permit.

The first order, early Sunday, sealed the West Berlin border to East Berliners. Designed to stop a tide of westbound refugees from East Germany, it also stopped some 80,000 East Berlin commuters who work in West Berlin.

The Communists said they would announce later the procedure for West Berlin motorists to get their permits to enter East Berlin.

Meanwhile, they allowed West Berliners, about 15,000 of whom work in East Berlin, to drive to their jobs as usual. They passed through the 12 gates still left open.

West German motorists, who have been required to get special permits to enter East Berlin for some time, were funneled through two crossing points on the 25-mile border.

Vehicles of the Western Allied occupation forces were not affected by the new order.

War Hysteria 'Grips' West, Pravda Reports

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party paper, told the Russian people today a new outburst of war hysteria has gripped the West since the closing of the East-West Berlin border.

In an editorial by V. Menshikov the paper asserted that West Germany threatens to become the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's "main force in unleashing a new world war."

The editorial repeated Communist explanations of last Sunday's barricading of the Berlin escape hatch to the West as a measure to keep out spies and provocateurs. "These measures have produced a new outburst of war hysteria in the camp of the opponents of a peace treaty with Germany," Menshikov wrote.

He said the West German army has been contributing increasingly to "the roar of the NATO military machine which is steered by the forces of international imperialist reaction."

The term "economic diversion" is the closest the Soviet press has come in describing the flight of thousands of East German refugees.

Flexibility Is Asked In Stock Sales

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Crawford Greenwalt, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours, says the U.S. District Court in Chicago will be asked to allow Du Pont flexibility in methods of disposing of its General Motors stock.

Du Pont, in an antitrust case carried to the Supreme Court, has been ordered to divest itself of its 63 million GM shares within 10 years.

Legislation now before Congress would soften the blow to the company's more than 200,000 stockholders.

In the absence of legislation, however, Greenwalt said that Du Pont will file a proposed judgment with the U.S. District Court in Chicago by Sept. 5 permitting flexibility in methods of divesting to minimize the economic loss to Du Pont stockholders.

A combination of methods is under study, Greenwalt said. They are offers to exchange General Motors shares for Du Pont common and preferred stock, which stock would then be retired, distribution of GM shares in lieu of cash as a portion of Du Pont's common stock dividends, and sales by Du Pont of GM shares.

The total effect, said Greenwalt, will be a substantial increase in the market supply of GM stock over a 10-year period.

Brandenburg Gate Stands As Blockade

BERLIN, Germany (AP)—The Brandenburg Gate, long a symbol of freedom and reunification for all Germans, today looks like a strong point in the middle of no man's land awaiting an enemy attack.

Armored trucks block the gate's five passages between its six great stone pillars. Soviet-type tanks are deployed farther back, their long cannon pointing West. East German riot troops stand ready.

Tangles of barbed wire ring the Western edge of the huge circular space surrounding the gate. This is the point between East and West Berlin where demonstrations against the city's disunity have broken out in the past.

A hulking police water truck, its engine rumbling, waits behind the barbed wire to hurl a hard stream of cold water at anyone on the Western side who gets too close.

The space around the Brandenburg Gate is dominated by armed men in uniform from both sides, watching one another across barbed wire.

Red and white wooden barriers block the road about half a mile this side of the gate. Perhaps a hundred West Berliners stood behind them in a cold drizzle today, looking to the military concentration under the Red flag flying in the distance. They said nothing. Their faces were expressionless. They could get no closer.

A West Berlin policeman, smiling apologetically, explained that this reporter would have to go the rest of the way on foot—and only reporters could cover that last half-mile.

As the reporter walked up the deserted avenue, West Berlin policemen, wearing gray capes over their blue uniforms because of the nasty weather, patrolled the surrounding woods of the Tiergarten, the city's big central park.

At the square, the reporter kept going toward the barbed wire at the border until menaced by the turret of the East German water truck. A photographer who pushed closer was squirted at and quickly retreated.

Two British soldiers in a jeep—this is the British sector of Berlin—were scanning the Communist defenses with binoculars. They had seen nothing during the morning which indicated trouble on the other side.

The West Berlin police stood about or sat in trucks. An officer with a walkie-talkie was keeping in touch with headquarters.

Across the square, in front of the gate, were East German men, in either the green uniform of the riot police or the brown of the militia-type auxiliary forces. Not more than 30 were visible. Others were hidden by the armored trucks blocking the passages.

The police, their security measures effective at least for the time, had nothing to do but wait. But sometime today, tomorrow, the day after, a new measure by the Communist regime may bring demonstrators charging toward the gate once more. If they are not stopped nobody knows what will happen.

Newburgh Got Results From Welfare Plan

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—The first welfare recipient to take a job with the city under Newburgh's controversial new welfare program didn't last long on it. But city officials said they got a desired result.

Welfare Commissioner Peter Petrillo said the man, who twice had declined city-arranged jobs with private companies, was put to work Monday doing odd jobs around City Hall.

The man worked until noon, then failed to show up after lunch. Petrillo said the man's wife telephoned the welfare office to say he had obtained employment on his own as a painter and wanted to be taken off relief rolls.

A provision of the city's new 13-point program makes it mandatory for able-bodied men on relief to take city jobs. City officials say the program is designed to cut down the welfare bill.

LOS ANGELES — The president of the local chapter of the National Association of Social Workers charged Monday that the Newburgh, N.Y., welfare crackdown has been built into a "national hoax" in an attempt to revive "Elizabethan poor laws."

Ralph L. Goff said Newburgh officials have spread a giant hoax in order to adopt a punitive regressive program to drive needy and helpless persons off welfare.

"Hunger is not abated or work made possible by the withholding of food and shelter," he said in a statement released to the press. "Newburgh can only incur for itself a higher ultimate expense resulting from increased malnutrition, illness and crime."

Cuban Aimed Proclamation Loses Teeth

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—By Brazil, a bloc of American nations today apparently succeeded in yanking the political teeth out of a proclamation aimed at Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

This behind-the-scenes feud took the spotlight off the main job in the Inter-American Economic Conference of whipping into shape the charter launching President Kennedy's giant aid program for Latin America.

Delegates who had worked until midnight went through the final draft of the charter today word by word to complete the history-making document.

But in secret huddles, anti-Castro delegates still fought to take a poke at Castro in a separate declaration summarizing the work of the 12-day conference. This threatened to force the conference into an extra day—ending Thursday instead of Wednesday.

The original aim of the separate proclamation was to write in simple, easy to read language a brief summary of the charter that the general public could understand.

One of its sponsors was Prime Minister Pedro Beltran, Peru's chief delegate. Some delegates, however, pressed to insert provisions making it clear that non-democratic countries such as Cuba could not benefit from the $20-billion 10-year aid program.

An early draft said the Alliance for Progress is "based on the principle of representative democracy" and added that "democratic institutions" should be perfected.

But as the argument raged these references to Cuba were removed, at least temporarily. The United States gave quiet support to the separate declaration whether it contained political phraseology or not.

3 Railroads Win Victory Under Ruling

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair ruled today the rental of property by railroads is not taxable under Missouri's two per cent use tax law.

The decision meant a victory for three railroads, the Missouri Pacific, Frisco and Wabash, in their long court battle to keep the Revenue Department from collecting the tax.

Based on the six months after the original use tax law went into effect Aug. 29, 1959, Missouri Pacific estimated it paid out $201,738 for the rental of property. Frisco set its rentals at $152,000 and Wabash at $93,075.

Today's ruling was the aftermath of a decision by the Missouri Supreme Court last March 13 declaring the 1959 use tax law invalid. As a result of that action, the legislature enacted a new use tax law with a new set of industrial exemptions applying to both the use and sales tax laws. The use tax covers goods bought outside the state for use in Missouri.

In the March decision, the high court sent the test case back to the Cole County Circuit Court for further argument on the issue of rental property and that was the issue settled by today's ruling.

In another case Judge Blair ruled Household Finance Corp. of Chicago was improperly assessed a total of $3,075 by the Tax Commission under Missouri's corporation franchise tax.

He said the assets sought to be taxed did not have a taxable status in Missouri.

Asks Court To Dismiss Disbarment

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—W. A. Brookshire, Ashland lawyer who has been convicted twice of killing farm hands, has asked the Missouri Supreme Court to dismiss a disbarment action filed against him last month.

Brookshire had until today to show cause why his law license shouldn't be revoked. In his answer filed Monday he suggested any action should be held in abeyance until his appeals are disposed of.

He denied he had been guilty of any moral turpitude and asked the court to appoint a special commissioner to determine the facts and submit a report.

Brookshire was convicted April 29, 1960, in Cole County Circuit Court of slaying Ralph Collings and was sentenced to three years. He appealed to the Supreme Court and a hearing will be held Sept. 13.

Last June 28 a Cooper County Circuit Court jury convicted him of killing Roderick Neiss of Lawrence, Kan., and he was sentenced to 10 years in that case.

Brookshire, a former state senator, pleaded self defense in both cases.

He charged the disbarment proceeding brought by the Boone County Bar Advisory Committee was premature and added "the accused firmly believes that no moral turpitude is involved in defense of one's person or in the defense of one's dwelling."

Brookshire noted he has been a member of the bar 45 years and said he would surrender his license if his convictions are upheld.

Bill for Aid To Schools Hits a Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sponsors trying to maneuver a bill through Congress to continue federal aid for schools in areas crowded with children of federal personnel ran into fresh difficulties today.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., announced that when the measure is brought before the Senate, he will try to tack on an amendment to authorize a two-year-outlay of $650 million for classroom construction.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he will propose an amendment to extend the National Defense Education Act for a year.

The impacted area bill, once passed by the Senate as part of a general aid to education measure, is popular in the House since assistance goes to districts of 319 members.

With all other aid to education legislation locked up in the House Rules Committee, it probably would sail through the House if the Senate doesn't tie some of the other school proposals to it. Such action by the Senate could send the measure to a Rules Committee pigeonhole.

With this in mind, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes the Senate will not load the measure with amendments when it comes up, possibly later this week. He said he wants a national defense education measure passed separately. He noted that the Senate already has approved school construction and teacher salary aid.

McNamara said in a separate interview he is willing to risk House disapproval of a bill combining impacted area and construction aid.

Court Ruling Paves Way For Return to Post

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A court ruling has paved the way for Ethan A. H. Shepley, retiring after seven years as Washington University chancellor, to return to his old position as chairman of the university's board of directors.

The university was granted permission in circuit court at Clayton Monday to amend its charter to increase membership on the board. Nine new directors will be named.

Shepley's retirement at 64 and his scheduled return as board chairman were announced earlier Monday. Vice Chancellor Carl Tolman will be acting chancellor until Shepley's permanent successor is selected.

Credit Plan In Motion At Penney's

J. C. Penney Company today announced the introduction of a new electronic data processing system into its Mission regional credit office near Kansas City to handle accounts receivable in its credit program.

The new system, a milestone in the firm's records handling procedures, will process charge accounts for 109 Penney stores in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois and Oklahoma. Forty-nine stores are located in Missouri, while the chain numbers 1,700 across the nation.

Gene Cook, manager of Penney's store in Sedalia, announced last week that the local store would begin offering charge accounts to customers on Monday. Charge accounts of the local store will be administered by the Mission credit office.

S. C. Patterson, general credit manager of the Penney Company, said the accuracy and speed of the new system makes it possible to handle larger volumes of customer account transactions faster and more efficiently with better service for charge customers. The firm initiated credit in September, 1958, on a pilot basis in 24 stores.

"On the current timetable, with the added impetus of the new equipment," Patterson estimated, "all stores will be offering customer charge account privileges by the middle of next year."

With the new system, developed by IBM, information pertaining to thousands of charge accounts will be recorded on reels of magnetic tape. All accounts will be screened and updated daily, and such essential information as purchases, payments returns and current balances recorded. Customer credit ratings also will be evaluated by the machine which can enter, balance and issue statements at the rate of two a second.

"The magnetic tape permits us to feed a greater number of sales transactions into the system and to administer the credit program far more efficiently than we could under the former tabulating system, which relied on automatic but limited calculations," Patterson said.

The processing unit of the system performs arithmetic and logical functions, controls card reading and punching and tells the printer what and where to print. In one minute the processing unit can perform 200,000 additions or subtractions of eight-digit numbers.

The system's high-speed card reader can process 800 cards a minute and punch an output of 250 cards a minute.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is two weeks old and we still haven't named him. Please settle a big family argument or this boy may go through life being called "the baby."

My husband was named after his father. He was called Junior all the way through school and hated it. When we moved to this city nine years ago my husband swore the main reason he wanted to leave his hometown was to unload the name Junior.

I always had a strong desire to have a son and name him after his father. My husband is violently opposed to it. He claims it's a burden on a boy and confusing as well. I figure since I carried this child all those long months and was in labor for 14 hours I should have my way. What do you think? —

HOLDING OUT
Dear Holding: So who else could have carried the child "all those long months?" And don't blame the long labor on your husband — because it wasn't his fault.

Since your husband is strongly opposed to having another Junior in the family (and apparently with good reason) I hope you will respect his wishes. Name the baby after YOUR father — or a rich uncle.

Dear Ann Landers: You must hate people. In the past five years since I've been reading your column you have printed at least a dozen letters attacking friends, relatives and neighbors who drop in unexpectedly. You have said the practice is "boorish, inconsiderate and rude."

I live in a rather small town and I love to have people drop in on me any time. I consider it a compliment. I'm an early riser and by 9:00 o'clock my house is ship-shape and I'm dressed in a crisp house-dress, ready for anyone who wishes to visit. My freezer is filled with goodies which can be popped into the oven on a moment's notice, and the coffee pot is always set for action.

I wish you'd change your tune, Ann. You are very much alone in this opinion and I suspect it's a personal peculiarity of yours, rather than sensible advice. —

OPEN HOUSE
Dear Open: Thank you for writing. Perhaps my point of view on "dropper-inners" is a personal peculiarity, but I also consider it sensible advice. At least one other person feels as I do. Here is her letter:

Dear Ann Landers: If you never do one other thing in all your life you have put across an idea in your column which is a genuine service to humanity. You are educating people to phone before they drop in to visit.

I have long felt that no woman should be at the mercy of whoever happens to be in the neighborhood. It is taking a great deal for granted to assume that a person has an hour or two to chew up, without first calling to check. Many a time I have been physically trapped in my own home by clouds who "just happened to be passing by." More than once I've gone to bed with a migraine headache because an acquaintance, or a distant relative, fell in on me when the house was a mess, I had laundry to do, phone calls to make, cooking, baking and what not.

After I started to read your column and discovered that your views were the same as mine on this subject, I decided to take your advice. I now tell the "dropper-inners" that I'm terribly sorry but I just can't visit and please phone ahead next time. Granted, I've lost a few pests (I'd hardly call them friends) but my migraines have just about disappeared. — IN AGREEMENT

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Press to Bar Cuban Regime From Program

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The United States and several other key nations at the Inter-American Economic Conference are pressing for a declaration barring Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime from participation in President Kennedy's alliance for progress program.

The proposed resolution would summarize the charter setting forth the principles of the 10-year, $20-billion economic development program to hold back communism's advance in Latin America.

Wording of the charter is virtually complete, and it is expected to be signed Wednesday, bringing the conference to a close. But Premier Pedro Beltran of Peru urged that the conference sum up its work in a short, simply worded declaration that the Latin American public can understand easily.

Some nations urged that this short version exclude pro-Communist countries from the program. Without mentioning Cuba by name they suggested that it specify only those states that hold free elections will be eligible for aid under the Alliance for Progress.

It was understood, however, that several countries would refuse to sign the abridged declaration if it contained political statements.

San Leandro City Council Cuts Taxes

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—The City Council has done it again.

The council voted Monday night to cut the tax rate—the 14th consecutive year this northern California city has chopped taxes.

The tax rate was $1.98 per $100 assessed valuation in 1948 when San Leandro, then a town of 26,442, started the trend.

The latest cut was just two cents—from $1.20 to $1.18—but San Leandro now has 70,000 residents.

Bread Bakers Report Prices May Be Hiked

CHICAGO (AP)—Housewives throughout the country may be paying a penny a loaf more for bread before long as a result of increased manufacturing costs, baking industry sources said today.

E. E. Kelley Jr., president of the American Bakers Association, declined to affirm the likelihood of the one-cent figure, but he said: "It will be little short of a miracle if bread prices are not increased in the near future throughout the nation."

Americans consume 15 billion loaves of bread annually, about 80 per cent of which is white bread. A penny increase at the grocery counter would amount to about $120 million.

The $2 support price fixed by the federal government on next year's crop wheat is an important factor in a cost boost being felt already by millers and bakers. The current support price is $1.79. Many farmers are holding their hard wheat off the market awaiting higher prices.

Kelley, who heads a bakery company in Lakeland, Fla., said in a statement that the total increased price of flour is greater than the estimated net profits of the baking industry in 1960.

Nazi Collaborators Sentenced to Death

MOSCOW (AP)—Three accused Nazi collaborators have been sentenced to death by a court in the city of Shyauliai in the Lithuanian Soviet Republic, the newspaper Soviet Lithuania reported.

The newspaper reaching Moscow Monday identified the three as Youzas Sutkus, former chief of police of the city of Yonishkis, and two assistants, Stanislovas Kaklyauskas and Yonas Ozhalas. They were convicted of carrying out the executions of fellow Lithuanians and Communists during the Nazi occupation.

France Is Accused Of New Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Tunisia's Ambassador Mongi Slim accused the French of new military aggression in a letter to the U.N. Security Council published Monday.

Slim said Tunisian troops had fought off two French attacks and he threatened to invoke wider Tunisian defense measures.

Slim charged that French troops early Sunday had killed three civilians in an attack on a farm 12 miles west of Bizerte, violating the Security Council's July 22 cease-fire order. Tunisian forces intervened to halt the attack.

He said the attack had followed two related incidents Saturday.

Priests Given Credit Cards; Congressman Gets a Lesson

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Associated Press Staff Writer

Some Franciscan priests get credit cards. Congressional constituents get a lesson in "Capitolism." And it's proved again: "You can't fight City Hall."

These are among oddities in the news.

Canadian members of the Franciscan Order are carrying credit cards these days. But they've got more reason than most folks.

When one enters the order, he takes a vow of poverty and, an official explains, isn't supposed to handle money.

The Rev. Irenaeus Herscher, O.F.M., treasurer of the Franciscan Education Conference, disclosed the development at Loreto, Pa.

Navy to Extend Period of Duty On 26,800 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says it will freeze on active duty 26,800 officers and enlisted men who would have been leaving the service.

The men, the Navy announced Monday, will be kept on duty for from six months to a year.

The order is part of the nation's military buildup and is designed to help the Navy expand its manpower from the present level of 626,000 to 657,000.

The Navy is expected to announce shortly a substantial increase in the number of ships in the fleet.

The freeze will affect about 30 per cent of the officers and enlisted men scheduled to leave active service next month and about 90 per cent of the officers and 30 per cent of the enlisted men scheduled to leave in subsequent months through next June 30.

The extension of active duty applies to both regular and reserve personnel.

The Price of Liberty

Across the space of 13 years, a general and an admiral spoke largely to the same point—that Americans must face up to the heavy burdens of peace if they would avoid the horrors of war.

On Memorial Day, 1948, Gen. Omar Bradley, then Army Chief of Staff, rose on a village green at Longmeadow, Mass., to pay homage to a soldier, a Medal of Honor winner, killed near the close of the war in Europe. The general's words deserve full flow:

"We have suffered enough in two world wars to know that non-involvement in peace means certain involvement in war. . . .

"Secure in distant and peaceful towns like these, clinging to comforts, refusing risks, seeking safety in refuge and refuge in words, we recanted power and conscience. . . .

"If we (now) cringe from the necessity of meeting issues boldly with principle, resolution and strength, then we shall simply hurdle along from crisis to crisis, improvising with expedients, seeking inoffensive solutions, dragging the nation with an illusion of security.

"The American people must put their faith in stable long-range policies—political, economic and military—programs that will not be heated and cooled with the brightening and waning of tension.

"The United States has matured to world leadership; it is time we steered by the stars, not by the lights of each passing ship."

In midsummer of 1961, with the dilemma of Berlin hanging over this country and the world, Adm. Arleigh Burke, newly freed of his long responsibility as Chief of Naval Operations, spoke in like vein.

Delivering his maiden civilian speech in Washington, a long address covering many aspects of the world struggle, the admiral found a place for these words of challenge to the people:

"The pleasures of an easy summer and the comforts of a thriving economy can well obscure the seriousness of our times. . . .

"We live in a free world, but we are confronted by a world of coercion, a world where men are disciplined by force, by terror and intimidation.

"There is only one effective response to this challenge. We must provide our own form of discipline, the discipline that springs from within: self-discipline. This is the only discipline possible in a democracy. . . .

"We must recognize that the very heart of any nation is its principles. Our principles must be the driving force behind our actions and the standard against which those actions are measured."

No realistic leader predicts anything for us but continuing challenge in the decades ahead. Let us hope that in those years there will be other Burkes and Bradleys to call us sharply to the test.

Pressures on Two K's Intensify Crisis

DREW PEARSON

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fifth in Drew Pearson's series of columns on the question of will there be peace or war over Berlin.)

BERLIN — Beyond any doubt, Berlin presents the most serious threat of war since World War II ended here 16 years ago.

War can be avoided; but it will take courageous, Herculean moves to avoid it. The reason war is so possible lies not in the City of Berlin itself — which, while an important symbol of the free world, is not worth starting a world war over — but in the fact that both Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy have got themselves pushed by outside forces into untenable positions.

Khrushchev has been pushed by President Ulbricht of East Germany, long a pain in the neck to the Kremlin, who has been yanking to Moscow that something must be done about dimming the lustre of the showcase of capitalism in West Berlin.

Ulbricht and the East German Communist leaders have been nagging at Khrushchev so long that he told Kennedy at Vienna he couldn't postpone the Berlin issue any longer.

Khrushchev has also been pushed by Mao Tse-tung of Red China, who doesn't want peace with the West at any time or at any price. Finally, Khrushchev appears to be pushed by some of the Stalinist elements inside the Kremlin who have never believed in co-existence.

Kennedy's Pushers

President Kennedy, in turn, has let American foreign policy be set by the Republicans to a greater extent than any other Democratic President in 50 years.

Most people don't realize it, but President Eisenhower has what amounts to a veto over U. S. Foreign policy today. This is because Kennedy, as a result of his paper-thin margin of last November, plus the Cuban fiasco, is consulting Ike on every Foreign move. A helicopter from the White House goes up to Gettysburg at least once a week with a White House emissary to get Ike's ok on Kennedy's next move.

This is in vivid contrast with past tradition. No other ex-president in 50 years — perhaps none in history — has had such influence over his successor. Quite the contrary.

The biggest split in the Republican party was caused when ex-president Teddy Roosevelt resented the fact that William Howard Taft, his former Secretary of War, refused to consult him after Taft became president. Hoover, when he succeeded Coolidge, could hardly wait for Coolidge to leave Washington to begin changing Coolidge's method of operation.

F. D. Roosevelt refused to either speak or cooperate with Hoover after he took over. Harry Truman fired all of FDR's cabinet at the earliest opportunity, and Eisenhower wouldn't speak to Truman during his eight years in office.

But today, Kennedy is so worried about right-wing Republican attacks from Senators Goldwater, Bridges, et al, that he consults Eisenhower, Herbert Hoover, Nixon and Gen. MacArthur — whom Harry Truman fired for undercutting presidential policy in the Far East.

This means that the Republican party can

TIMES-JOURNAL (Chilton, Wis.) The Good Old Days — Those who seem to get their greatest pleasure out of facing backward and dreaming of "the good old days" keep talking of the "self reliance" of our pioneers.

In that brave time we are reminded, no one worried about housing or health standards or surplus crops. It was every man for himself.

We ought to remember, however, that in those days there was free land, virtually no taxes of any kind, and the Army supplied the police power, such as it was.

Disease ran unchecked, schools were few and far between, roads were muddy tracks, and beef-fat candles made the only light.

It is heroic and romantic viewed in retrospect. It was pretty miserable in fact.

Why Nikita Closed Brandenburg Gate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev—from his view—had two good reasons for slamming shut the gate on East Germans trying to flee into West Berlin.

There might be a kickback—for instance, the Allies were talking today of invoking economic sanctions against the East German Communists, like shutting off trade—but he could chance it.

He has to be credited with figuring the Allies might retaliate that way. The fact that he shut the gate indicates he thought his reasons for doing so outweighed what the Allies might do.

These were the reasons:

1. The flood of refugees to the West was draining out of Communist East Germany many of its most talented, skilled and badly needed people.

2. The sudden brake on the refugees might, if Khrushchev was lucky, split the Allies just when they couldn't afford to be split.

What Khrushchev has done now has to be considered along with what he had threatened to do later because, where there was only one Berlin problem before, there are two problems now.

Starting last June he had threatened before the year's end to turn over to the East German Reds control of those routes over which the Allies supply their garrisons in West Berlin.

Berlin lies 110 miles inside East Germany. But the Western part of Berlin, with its 2 1/4 million people, is linked to West Germany. This island of capitalism in the East German Communist sea has been a bleeding sore to Khrushchev.

So the move he planned to make before year's end was just the first step in a series, perhaps spread over years, to shut West Berlin off from the West altogether. No realistic person could think otherwise.

The Allies certainly think so, for they decided to stand firmly together to resist any move by Khrushchev to weaken their West Berlin link. This kind of solidarity is not what he wanted.

What he would want, ideally, of course, would be indecision and disagreement among the Allies on preserving their West Berlin rights. But he raised such a rumpus, made such threats, that East Germans began to flee to the West.

This he may not have expected. So he moved to stop them from leaving. But in so doing he created a brand new Berlin problem for the Allies. Not West Berlin this time but the freedom of people to move into and out of West Berlin.

Then the Allies began to talk of economic sanctions. But just how far the Allies are willing to go in this direction remains to be seen. If they split on this, the fracture may extend to their previous determination not to let Khrushchev get away with his threats about West Berlin later this year.

If that happens it will be so much gravy for Khrushchev since he had found it necessary, no matter what else followed, to stop the refugees from leaving East Germany.

The East German Communist regime seems a bit rocky. But a revolt of the non-Communist East Germans not only seems out of the question but would be a disaster for the West. For these reasons:

1. The Russians have enough troops in East Germany to put a fast and bloody end to revolution.

2. The West couldn't go to their help unless it was ready to go to war with the Soviet Union.

Summer Sun Sizzles-- Don't Overexpose Children

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column I described some of the ill effects occasionally encountered when normal persons suffer excessive exposure to sunlight (phototoxicity), and when extremely sensitive individuals, especially children, are exposed to solar radiation under conditions acceptable to the vast majority of us (photosensitivity; photoallergy).

From available information, here are some suggestions that may help you to avoid the unpleasant manifestations of both phototoxicity and photosensitivity:

The wave lengths that cause sunburn reactions are present year round in the south and in the late spring and throughout the summer in the north. Hence, if you live in the north, you need not concern yourself with the problem in the fall, winter and early spring.

In the presence of the sun burning wave lengths, note your child's reaction.

If the skin breaks out in small pimples or hives, you may suspect photosensitivity. This observation should be reported to your doctor.

If the child becomes sluggish or feverish and appears to react unfavorably to exposure, record its rectal temperature after resting indoors for half hour or so. If there is fever, report your findings to your doctor for appropriate action.

If you or your children have recently taken—or been given—an antibiotic or a tranquilizer, or if you are taking medicines of any sort that may contain either, do not deliberately expose yourselves to sunlight.

Do not, under any circumstances, go to extremes in sunbathing.

Do not use external applications to increase sun tanning or to prevent sunburn. Excessive exposure to solar rays will not strengthen resistance. It will not increase healing capacities. It may, however, dry and crack the skin and cause undesirable internal effects.

These latter effects are especially apt to occur in those who have tuberculosis infections, or who suffer certain allergic conditions like the "butterfly disease" (lupus erythematosus).

If your occupation requires exposure to sunlight for long periods of time each day, wear protective clothing. Chronic exposure to sunlight may result in the development of skin cancers.

If you are required to expose yourself to sunlight for long periods of time and/or if you suffer the manifestations of photosensitivity, your doctor may be able to provide you with some protection by administration of certain antimalarial drugs that filter out harmful rays.

However, by and large, you are wise to discourage your children from long periods of outdoor play or exposure, especially when the sun is directly overhead.

There is more truth than poetry in song lyrics which proclaim that only "Mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the midday, out in the midday, out in the midday sun."

Reduced Retirement Check Varies With Worker's Age

By Faye Henle

Q—I have heard that men can now retire at 62, but that their Social Security benefits will be permanently reduced. How much is this reduction?—A.C.R.

A—Dear A.C.R.: The exact reduction depends on how many months the man is under 65 when he first takes his benefits. The maximum reduction is 20 per cent, made when benefits start the month he reaches 62. This means that if you would be eligible for a monthly benefit of $80 at 65, you would receive $64 a month at 62. When benefits start later, but before a man reaches 65, the reductions are less: about 14 per cent at 63 and about 7 per cent at 64.

Q—What is a "joint and survivor" benefit? If I were to apply this to my insurance policy, what would it do? Would it cost anything?

A—Dear H.R.: A "joint and survivor" clause is usually applied to annuities or retirement income plans. It refers to a provision to make the income payable to either or both of two people as long as either lives. A straight annuity on a husband would give him income until he dies, but would leave the widow with nothing. The "joint and survivor" clause can be written into the retirement use of the cash values of regular life insurance policies. It costs something since the greater amount of money could not be paid out without a larger principal sum. If you use cash values, the cost difference is usually taken out of the amount of income paid rather than increasing the premium rate. In the case of pension plans, the retiree often can choose a "joint and survivor" retirement income for a smaller monthly income, instead of the established pension.

Q—If we are a two-car family, can we get lower insurance?—J.M.

A—Dear J.M.: This depends upon which state you live in. Major insurance companies in 39 states and the District of Columbia will give a 20 per cent discount on premiums for both cars, if neither is used in business and there is no male driver under 25.

Q—Is life insurance subject to the federal inheritance tax?—J.B.

A—Dear J.B.: The proceeds of a life insurance policy are subject to estate taxes if the policy is payable directly to the estate or for the benefit of an individual legally bound to pay taxes, debts and other charges against the estate, such as a wife or husband or other heir, or if the insured retained any incidents of ownership, such as the power to change beneficiary, cancel the policy, or pledge it for a loan.

Help Her to Become A Non-Interfering In-law

RUTH MILLETT

Any smart husband can help his wife become a non-interfering mother-in-law. For husbands who don't see just how it can be done, here are a few tips.

The first time your wife announces that she is going to pay the young folks a visit, lay down one law:

Tell her that you are willing for her to go if she will limit her visit to five days. Don't even imply that she may wear out her welcome if she stays longer.

Just tell her you can't get along without her for any longer than that and she'll say happily when she leaves the young couple,

"I wish I could stay longer — but you know how helpless your dad is."

The first time your wife starts to criticize her new son-in-law or daughter-in-law say quietly but firmly, "Remember — you're talking about a member of our family."

The first time your wife thinks her new daughter-in-law is being extravagant with your son's money — remind her that it is THEIR money.

Then say in shocked disbelief, "How do you know how much she paid for the living room draperies. You didn't ask her did you?"

If she has been asking personal questions, that ought to put an end to them.

The first time she begins to worry and fret over the young couple's plans for the future, remind her gently of the "crazy" things the two of you did that turned out all right — or at least taught you a valuable lesson.

But most important of all, keep your wife so busy looking after you and making you happy that she doesn't have time to even want to lead her children's lives.

If she is convinced you need her, she won't have to feel that her grown children still need her, too.

About Town

It was Friday evening, at 7:30 in a local store, when one of the women went to where she kept her purse and other belongings, picked up the purse and some packages she had and went out the front door.

"I guess I'll be on my way," she announced.

"Where are you going?" asked the owner of the store.

"I'm going home," she replied, "I thought I'd go on out, my son-in-law will be by in a few minutes."

"At 7:30?" somebody queried. That woke her up. She had looked at the clock or her watch wrong and thought it was 8:30. There were several customers in the store who joined in with the laughter of those who worked there because she was so surprised and so embarrassed. And as they laughed she made a fast retreat to the back of the store to try to regain a little composure.—H. L.

200 Riders Open Appeals Next Tuesday

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The appeal trials of nearly 200 convicted "Freedom Riders" will begin next Tuesday in Hinds County Court. They are expected to continue through January.

County Judge Russel Moore today scheduled arrangement for three additional riders after 188 others had pleaded innocent of breach of peace charges.

The riders are appealing City Court convictions after their arrests for refusing to obey police orders to move on while attempting to desegregate transportation terminal facilities in this state capital city of 70,000.

The first riders reached Jackson last May 24. Since then 297 have been arrested. Some remain in jail.

The three to be arraigned today are John Dolan, 20, of Berkeley, Calif.; George Marion Blevins, 21, of Los Angeles; and Frank Nelson of Brooklyn, N.Y. All are white.

Judge Moore granted the trio an additional day after they were jailed on other charges in New Orleans last Saturday and were unable to meet the Monday appearance deadline.

Attorneys went through formal legal procedure on the first of 197 cases called Monday, then took an average of 25 seconds per person on the 188 who entered pleas and received trial dates. Nine defendants did not appear, including the three who were to be arraigned today.

Moore said the other six must forfeit their $500 bonds or appear at the next term of court and show why they were not present Monday.

A motion by defense attorney William Kunstler to dismiss the charges failed. He contended the application of the breach of peace was unconstitutional and violated a federal statute in regard to free use of travel facilities.

Moore overruled the motion, saying it was premature and could be entered when the jury trials begin next week. Two trials will be held daily five days a week, and all are expected to be completed by Jan. 17.

The defense also filed a motion for a change of venue on grounds prospective jurors in Hinds County had been prejudiced by newspaper and television editorials.

After consultation with the judge, Kunstler withdrew the motion and said he would re-enter it. Moore said testimony and arguments on the motion would be heard before the first rider appeal trial begins.

INFLATABLE EXERCISER—When Commander William E. Sims, skipper of the nuclear-powered submarine USS Theodore Roosevelt, decided his men needed exercise on their long underwater cruises, the questions of "How?" and "Where?" arose. Engineers for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. came up with an inflatable gymnasium, left

Would Cache Wheat Under New Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Emergency supplies of wheat would be stored at Topeka, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Louis and Springfield, Mo., under a program proposed to Congress Monday by the Agriculture Department.

The $47.2 million proposal is part of President Kennedy's plan to back up the nation's Civil Defense program. It would relocate 126 million bushels of wheat, storing it in or near 191 metropolitan areas for emergency use in case of enemy attack.

About 95 million people live in the metropolitan areas and the idea is to store enough wheat near them so each person could have three-fourths of a pound a day for four months.

The government already owns the wheat and most of it is stored in the Midwest.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville E. Freeman discussed the plan Monday in an address to the Missouri Farmers Association at Columbia. At the same time, President Kennedy asked Congress for the $47.2 million.

The Agriculture Department's plan is to store about 2.8 million bushels at St. Louis, 1.2 million at Kansas City, 492,000 at Wichita, 202,000 at Topeka and 164,000 at Springfield.

The group had expected to reach Moscow on foot by Oct. 25 to distribute pamphlets explaining the need for atomic disarmament.

May Please No One

Information Agency Post Huge Problem for Murrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials know they can't please everybody. But only the director of the U. S. Information Agency has to admit he is likely to wind up pleasing no one, including himself.

The new USIA director, Ed Murrow, understands what he is up against.

"In the bare 20 years of its life," he says of the USIA, "it has had five titles and a dozen different directors."

Despite the copious honors—and the copious cash—that Murrow has taken out of radio and television, there is no sure indication yet that he will do better, or last longer, than his harassed predecessors.

The problem facing Murrow can be stated simply.

Everyone thinks America should present an attractive figure to a world stumbling about in what could be a deadly cold war.

But when an attempt is made to describe this figure the trouble begins.

As far back as 1947, Dean Acheson, then undersecretary of state, was supplying this laudable aim for the Voice of America: "To cover the earth with truth."

Now, 14 sadder if not wiser years later, here is Murrow saying: "In this world there are no absolute standards of truth. What is one man's truth is another man's falsehood."

To understand Murrow's difficulties, put yourself in his place for a moment.

What is America to you? How would you describe this vast, complex nation, with its equally vast, complex problems, beliefs, prejudices and aspirations so they would be intelligible to a foreigner?

Would you show movies in 98 countries and in 52 languages? Would you send out uninhibited Louis Armstrong, the great jazz trumpeter, with the international message that if you blow pretty enough, all cats act alike?

Would you establish a giant broadcasting system so that the Voice of America could be heard over 87 transmitters in 35 languages?

Would you give out recordings of Eskimo folk songs? Would you distribute 6.5-million low cost books overseas each year?

Would you make a film with this intriguing title, "Fulton Fish Market"?

All this—and much, much more—has been done.

Yet its critics remain as vocal as ever, and even USIA's best friends seem discontented.

"Everybody," a USIA career man said resignedly, "thinks he can run this place better than anybody."

This may explain why the critical tone hasn't changed much through the years.

In a country like the Soviet Union it's possible to give out or withhold news in a way that will help to create the image that country wishes to show the world.

By contrast the composite picture this nation produces is a remarkable hodgepodge. A bus burns in Alabama. Harlem is shaken by a rumble. A senator puffs off. A U.S. soldier abroad runs amuck.

The USIA has no control over any of these events. Nor does it have control over governmental policy.

But even in areas exclusively USIA's the criticism keeps rolling in.

Congress, always inquisitive about what's being done to put out the latest international fire, is usually blamed for this failure in long range planning. But a USIA official who has been with the agency throughout its existence insists the steady turnover of chiefs, each with his own schemes, has multiplied confusion among the Indians.

"Sooner or later," he said, "we've got to quit jumping from crisis to crisis, and concentrate on getting our story across to people who count. That's more important than bragging about how many hours a day we broadcast to Cuba."

In Game With White Sox

New York Stars
Against RecordsBy ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may read New York vs. Chicago in the American League schedule, but it's really Whitey Ford, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris vs. the records tonight when the first-place Yankees open a three-game home stand against the White Sox.

Ford, the stubby southpaw who is the majors' lone 20-game winner at the moment, is shooting for his 15th consecutive victory. That would be a Yankee record. Whitey tied the club high of 14, set by Jack Chesbro in 1904, when he beat Los Angeles last Thursday for a 20-2 record.

No American League pitcher has won 15 in a row in 24 years—not since Johnny Allen did it for Cleveland in 1937.

Mantle and Maris each need 16 home runs to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 of 1927. Each has clubbed 45, putting them 15 game ahead of Ruth's pace. Maris could join a tight little cluster of clouters who have hit 46 or more in one season in the AL. Only six have done it: Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, and Mantle.

The Mick, who hit 52 in 1956, could join Ruth (nine times), Gehrig (four) and Foxx (three) as the only sluggers who have hit 46 or more at least twice in their careers.

Maris also has a shot at the major league record for most home runs hit against one club in one season. Gehrig set the mark with 14 against Cleveland in 1936. Maris already has hit 10 against the White Sox, and the Yankees have 6 games remaining against Chicago.

Meanwhile, back in the bunch, Minnesota beat Kansas City 6-2, and Los Angeles whipped Washington 5-1 Monday night in the only AL games scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis stopped Los Angeles 5-0 on Ernie Broglio's five-hitter and shaved the Dodgers' lead over idle Cincinnati to two games. Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 8-3, and Chicago rapped Philadelphia 9-2.

The Twins socked the A's and loser Jerry Walker (5-9) with Harmon Killebrew's 34th home run and Billy Martin's third. Martin's

Dodgers, Reds
Begin 3-Game
Series Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than 100,000 people are expected to show up at the Coliseum the next two nights, hoping to discover whether the Cincinnati Reds can still be taken seriously—or just taken, period.

A crowd of 50,000 is expected tonight, when the Reds will start right-hander Joey Jay (16-7) against Dodger southpaw Sandy Koufax (13-7) in the opener of the three-game series. Two games will be played Wednesday night.

The Dodgers, who dropped a 5-0 decision to St. Louis Monday night, have won 19 of their last 23 games and go into the series leading the second-place Reds by two games. Cincinnati, idle Monday, has lost 16 of its 32 games and 6 of its last 9. The Reds won three of four in their last series at the Coliseum but the Dodgers hold an 8-7 edge in the season series.

If the two clubs have any admiration for each other, they have done a skillful job of concealing it. Their relationship was something less than a desperate love affair even before Dodger right-hander Don Drysdale was thrown out of a game earlier this season for delivering a pitch that struck Cincinnati's Frank Robinson on the arm.

Relief pitcher Jim Brosnan of the Reds did not materially strengthen the bond between the two clubs when he wrote recently in a national magazine that the Dodgers have all the dirty players in the National League.

The Big Brothers organization will take 100 Little Brothers to tonight's game. And that may be the only demonstration of brotherhood in the entire series.

Long, Quiet
Summer For The Phillies

CHICAGO (AP) — These are quiet, long and tiresome days for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Nobody tries to break down the dressing room door to get autographs. There are no crowds milling around before or after the games.

These are the last-place Phillies. They've lost 17 games in a row. Their record is a horrible 81 defeats against a mere 30 victories. Yes, things are quiet.

And it's quiet inside the dressing room. Sitting in the middle of the room, sipping a coke is Lee Walls. You can hear the shower sprinkling. Then, in answer to a question, Walls begins talking, very softly.

"Tough? You can't imagine how tough it is. Nobody likes to lose. But that's the way it is when you want to build a club and you have to go with kids. I'm 28 and I was the oldest player in that starting lineup today.

"The trips keep getting longer the more we lose but you can't seem to do anything about it. We lose a couple of one run games and then we get bombed.

"Oddly enough this team has good spirit. Nobody goes around blaming anyone else for the losses. We're all trying to do our best. One of these days we will break out of it. It just can't last."

Leaning against a rail is outfielder Wes Covington, who played with Milwaukee's pennant winners in 1957 and 1958 and lost the chance of becoming a super star because of leg injuries.

"This is (General Manager) John Quinn's pattern," mused Covington. "He did the same thing with the Braves until he got a championship. You go with the kids, you suffer while hoping some day they'll develop into a winner. But it'll pay off some day."

Redbirds Capture
Title With Victory
Over Springfield

The Jefferson City Redbirds shaded Springfield 5-4 Monday night at Liberty Park and won the Missouri State Non-Pro Tournament.

Dave Koch, the winning pitcher, helped his own cause as he blasted a home run with one man on base. Christopher of Springfield rapped a solo homer. Foley was given the loss.

The Redbirds will journey to Wichita where they will meet the Kansas state champions Friday night at 9 o'clock in the national non-pro tournament.

Local Players Will Take Part in Annual Golf Tournament

Two Sedalia golfers will participate in the first annual Heart of America four-ball invitational golf tournament being held at the Blue Hills Country Club in Kansas City this week. They are Charles Patterson and Vic Van Dyne.

The two will play as a team, counting their low ball on each hole. They were invited to participate in this tournament because of their constant playing over the state. They were eligible because of a combined handicap of less than 15.

The tournament play began Monday.

Broglio Helps
His Own CauseBy ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Do you pitch to a .122 hitter with two on, two out and first base open with the pitcher the next batter in the second inning of a scoreless game? Or do you walk him intentionally, loading the bases, to get to the pitcher?

The Los Angeles Dodgers have only a two-game lead in the National League pennant race at the moment because they decided to walk the .122 hitter, Alex Grammas, Monday night. Pitcher Ernie Broglio then followed with a two-run single—and a five-hit shutout—as St. Louis beat the Dodgers 5-0.

That whittled half a game off the Dodgers' lead over Cincinnati as the second-place Reds moved into Los Angeles for the opener of a three-game series tonight.

Cincinnati was idle Monday, but still hopeful Milwaukee rapped Pittsburgh 8-3 and the Chicago Cubs thumped Philadelphia 9-2 for the Phils' 17th consecutive defeat.

In the only American League games scheduled, Minnesota beat Kansas City 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Washington 5-1.

The move that missed for the Dodgers, ending their winning streak at six games, followed singles by Stan Musial and Carl Sawatski. When Grammas came to the plate, the Cards' utility infielder was hitless in 32 at-bats in a slump that stretched over 20 games going back to June 26.

If the Dodgers thought Grammas was about due, they were right. He collected two singles after the Cards' three-run second inning and came around to score on both.

Broglio, a .143 batsman 7-for-7 49 when he stepped in against Don Drysdale in the second inning, gave up nothing but singles, walked four and struck out seven while gaining his first complete game victory in more than two months for a 9-10 record. This was the second shutout of the season for Broglio, a 21-game winner last year and his first since he blanked Cincinnati on April 15.

It was only the third time the Dodgers have been shut out this season, and it ended a three-game streak by Drysdale (10-7), who had lost only one of five previous decisions since June.

The fourth-place Milwaukee Braves, still 10½ games out of first after winning 16 of their last 24, made it four in a row behind 6-2-3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief by rookie Tony Cloninger (3-2). The young right-hander took over from starter Bob Buhl in the third inning, when the

The championship trophy was presented after the game by Little League President, Ralph Hamlin.

Lions handed Optimist its second loss in the double elimination Major League tournament by a score of 9-4 in the second game Monday night. Optimist jumped off with a one run lead in the first inning and held it until the top of the third when Lions tied it up with a run, then came back in the fifth to take the lead with another run. They picked up two runs in the top of the sixth to lead by 4-1. Optimist came roaring back in the bottom of the sixth with three big runs to tie the game and send it into extra innings. McKinzie started the game for Optimist and pitched for six innings and was replaced in the seventh by Wagner and Hartley. Wagner was charged with the loss and Wingate picked up the win.

Lions will play Rotary in the second game Tuesday night at Little League Stadium in what may be the final game of the tournament. If Rotary wins it will

See Orioles As Spoilers In AL Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Baltimore pitching can be the decisive factor in the American League pennant race between the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers. Although the Orioles, 11 games out of first place, still have a long shot chance at the championship, their chief contribution may come in the "spoiler" role.

The Orioles have six games left with the Yanks and seven with Detroit. Four of the Yanks' games are in Baltimore, where Roger Maris has yet to hit a home run. Detroit has the edge in the schedule since the Tigers still have 27 games to play with second-division teams, including seven with the last-place Kansas City A's. They play only 20 more with first division teams.

New York must play first-division teams in 28 of its 46 remaining games and has only 18 left with the last five clubs.

Both teams have broken better than even on the road, but the Tigers boast a better record away from home. The Tigers sport a classy 36-18 record on the road and 37-24 at home, and the Yanks are 30-25 away from the stadium and 47-14 at home. Each club has 20 games left at home.

With the exception of Washington, which has held New York all even—in 14 games—the Yanks have been battering the second-division teams. They are 13-2 over Minnesota and 11-4 over both Los Angeles and Kansas City. At this point of a 162-game season, they have only three left with each of the Twins, Angels and A's. Cleveland still has nine to play with the Yanks.

Detroit has piled it on against Cleveland and Chicago and has a decisive 8-3 edge over the A's.

The big dates on the American League schedule are Sept. 1, 2 and 3, when the Tigers will be making their final visit to Yankee Stadium, and Sept. 15-17, when the Yanks will play at Detroit for the last time. The only double-header is a two-nighter at Detroit Sept. 15.

Detroit holds a 6-5 edge in the season series with New York, winning three of five at home and breaking 3 in 6 at Yankee stadium.

Nobody has been eliminated mathematically in the league, where even Kansas City still holds on by a string. But with the Yanks leading the Tigers by 3½ games and Baltimore 11 games back, it looks like a two-team race.

Chooses Dates, Sites for Six Athletic Events

SEATTLE (AP)—The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association picked the sites and dates for six intercollegiate athletic events Monday.

It also hired an assistant to its executive director, Walter Byers, and took a look at recent sports scandals.

The tournaments, all next year: Fencing, Ohio State, March 30-31; Golf, Duke, June 18-23; Gymnastics, New Mexico, March 30-31; Skiing, Squaw Valley, March 22-24; Swimming, Ohio State, Mar. 29-31, and track, Oregon, June 15-16.

The new official is Charles Neinas, former sports and news director for an Eau Claire, Wis., radio station. He will be assigned to college activities and be based at Kansas City.

As for bribery in collegiate athletics, Byers said:

"We are trying to find what the colleges can do through the NCAA or the NCAA can do through the colleges to make it more difficult for this to happen. Everybody who knows human nature knows you just can't rule this sort of situation out."

Amos Stagg To Observe 99th Year

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The dean of American sports figures, Amos Alonzo Stagg, celebrates his 99th birthday Wednesday, fondly recalling 70 years in football.

His shoulders now stooped, his eyesight impaired, but his mind quick, the grand old man agreed that football had kept him young and he doubts he could have devoted the 70 active years to any other pursuit.

Mr. Stagg, as he was known to the thousands of athletes who played for him, will be honored at a civic luncheon Tuesday. Then he and his wife of 67 years, Stella, will spend a quiet day with their family Wednesday.

Born at West Orange, N.J., in 1862, before football was invented, Stagg starred in the game at Yale and then coached 41 years at Chicago before retiring at the mandatory age of 70. He promptly came here to continue his head coaching career at College of the Pacific.

He is the only man named to the Hall of Fame both as a player and as a coach.

Asked his secret of longevity, Stagg replied: "Why, I don't know as I have any single secret, but I believe in behaving yourself morally and spiritually."

On football's future, he "thinks well of it" but adds: "I think too much effort is toward, not inventiveness of play, but on securing material. I am not in favor of recruiting and the policies used in recruiting."

"If they are football players, take 'em as they are. I had a policy of not recruiting. I felt it was my job to take 'em as they came."

Studying for the ministry at Yale in 1884, Stagg turned out for football because some buddies did. His first day of practice decided his life.

"I liked the roughness and excitement of practice and later the game," he recalls. "Football was full of vitality and was very stimulating to me."

He remained active in coaching until last year, when he finally stepped out as advisory coach at Stockton (junior) College here. A year ago he also was awarded the Gold Medal of the National Football Foundation with the inscription: "To Amos Alonzo Stagg, who of all men has done the most for American intercollegiate football."

Cards Stop LA Streak; A's Hold Lease On Cellar

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals ended a 6-game Los Angeles winning streak Monday night, 5-0, as right-hander Ernie Broglio pitched a 5-hitter for his first complete game victory in more than two months.

Manager Hank Bauer's Kansas City Athletics continued to be assured of a long lease on the American League basement. The Minnesota Twins battered the A's 6-2 at Minneapolis-St. Paul with the help of home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Billy Martin. Kansas City is 7½ games behind the ninth place twins.

Broglio drove in the first two Cardinal runs in the second inning on a single. Julian Javier singled home Alex Grammas with the third St. Louis run of the inning.

Broglio twice sacrificed Grammas in the fourth on a double by Joe Cunningham and in the sixth on a single by Cunningham.

Stan Musial had three hits and scored one run and Grammas had two hits and scored three runs.

The loss went to starter Don Drysdale. Broglio now has a 9-10 record.

This was only the third time this year the Dodgers had been shut out. The loss left the National League leading Dodgers' two games ahead of Cincinnati.

Deron Johnson and Joe Pignatano hit back to back homers in the seventh to account for the Kansas City scoring.

Jim Kaat limited the A's to 7 hits for his fifth victory against 12 defeats. Jerry Walker absorbed his ninth loss against five victories.

Baker Meets Doctor In Feature Match Of Girls Junior Golf

SEATTLE (AP)—Ann Baker of Marysville, Tenn., who shared medal honors with Mary Lou Daniel of Louisville, Ky., met Mary Ann Doctor of Westfield, N.J., today in what loomed as the first round feature match at the USGA Girls Junior Golf Championships.

Miss Baker, Tennessee women's amateur titlist, met Miss Doctor, the 1960 New York metropolitan junior champion last year in the first round of this tournament at Tulsa, Okla., and Miss Baker was the 1-up winner.

In Monday's qualifying round, which culled the field of 69 to the leading 32 players, Miss Daniel and Miss Baker each scored 78. Opposing Miss Daniel in the opening round of match play today was Joan Edwards of Portland, Ore., who, like Miss Doctor, qualified with an 83.

Rackets Hearing Will Avoid Subject Of Gamblers Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today his forthcoming rackets hearings will avoid the subject of gamblers' "fixing" of college and professional sports events.

The reason, he said, is the desire of his Senate investigations subcommittee to refrain from anything which might upset pending prosecutions in New York in connection with college basketball scandals.

New York officials are preparing to bring to trial givers and some takers of bribes to shave points in or actually "throw" college basketball games.

McClellan confirmed reports that his staff investigators, digging into big time gambling operations which will be explored at public hearings starting Aug. 22, has turned up evidence about some allegedly fixed sports

Humane Officer Is Shot At By Semi-clad Man

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Humane Society officer searching for a reportedly injured dog was shot on the grounds of De Paul Hospital Saturday night by a semi-clad man wearing a mask of a paper sack with eyeholes cut in it.

Robert Brandau, 32, was only grazed by one of four or five shots fired by the mysterious intruder, a Negro.

Motive for the attack was not immediately determined.

Brandau said he was walking through the hospital grounds when he saw an object against a fence.

"I thought it was the dog and shone my flashlight in that direction. And there was this man lying on his stomach. He was nude from the waist up and had a paper sack over his head with eyeholes cut in it."

Brandau said the man warned him to go away, then started shooting.

The officer ducked behind a tree and the man ran away.

Brandau learned later the dog he was seeking had been killed when run over by a car.

Thompson Joins His Family In Germany

NEW YORK (AP)—Llewellyn E. Thompson, U. S. ambassador to Soviet Union, who conferred with President Kennedy on the Berlin crisis, left Monday for Germany to join his family.

Thompson, who said he would take the rest of his leave in Germany, added that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is vacationing in the Crimea and there is little reason for him to return to Moscow immediately.

Thompson attended the Western foreign ministers' conference in Paris before going to Washington for consultations.

First Degree Murder Charge Facing Woman

EMINENCE, Mo. (AP)—A 57-year-old woman of the Ozarks is being held in jail at Alton, Mo., after having been denied bond in a first degree murder case.

She is Mrs. Verna Coe, accused in the shooting Aug. 3 of Walter J. Harrow, retired Omaha real estate man. Authorities said he was one of the men who over a period of time had come to her cabin through a lonely hearts club.

Mrs. Coe was bound over to Circuit Court for trial at her preliminary hearing Saturday. Magistrate W. H. Despain denied bond.

Rail Crossing Accident Is Fatal to Man

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP)—Clair Eugene Fulkerson, 23, Valley Center, Kan., died in a rail crossing accident today, just five days after his quick thinking saved the life of his son, Timmy, 2.

Fulkerson's delivery truck for the Dold Packing Co., Wichita, and a Rock Island passenger train collided at a grade crossing in Liberal.

His body was removed from under his wrecked truck, in a water-filled ditch near the tracks.

Fulkerson rescued Timmy last Wednesday after the youngster had fallen into a backyard, plastic wading pool.

The father then brought Timmy back to life by mouth-to-mouth breathing, a method he told newsmen he had learned by watching television.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—George Jessel said Monday night he will retire next year and live in France.

The 63-year-old comedian and toastmaster, here for a night club engagement, told an interviewer he plans to settle in Cannes, on the French Riviera, "just a block from the ocean."

Pension Benefits For Medal Winners

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Monday signed legislation enabling Medal of Honor winners to receive a tenfold increase in their monthly pension at an earlier age.

The measure introduced in Congress by Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., establishes 50 as the pension age for the medal winners instead of the present 65. It also raises the monthly payment from $10 to $100.

There are 297 winners of the nation's highest medal now living.

Time to Start Thinking About Small Grain Pastures

By William J. Murphy,
MU Extension Field
Crops Specialist

The pastures that put so much of our meat and milk on the table have been producing extra well in most of Missouri this summer as a result of abundant rainfall. But farmers have to be continually planning ahead. Now is the time to start getting ready to seed small grains for pasture. High quality pasture is scarce from late September until winter — which is just when small grain pastures are producing. This also lets the fall growth on permanent pastures be saved for winter grazing. In turn, this means less hay and silage needed for wintering livestock, thus cheaper production of meat and milk.

For fall pasture seedings, there is a choice between three small grains — winter barley, rye, or wheat.

Let's think with those of you who may be making such a seeding, about how each of these small grains might fit into your plans.

Winter barley is known to produce more fall pasture than any other fall-seeded small grain on medium to good, well-drained land. If you fertilize it well and don't severely overgraze it, barley will develop a spring growth for either pasture, grain, or grass silage. At the same time it will be the best nurse crop for grass and legume seedings.

Rye will make a better pasture crop for you on soils of natural low fertility or those that are poorly drained. It will give you more winter pasture than barley or wheat, and you can graze it harder and not hurt the stand.

One of its big advantages is that it will be ready to pasture again next spring as much as 10 days to two weeks earlier than the other crops. But if you do want to take a grain crop next spring, it won't be as desirable as wheat or barley.

Wheat is the highest quality small grain pasture that we have. And it fits in well when a long grazing period is needed in the spring. But, of course, with wheat allotments in the picture you may have trouble fitting an acreage for pasture in your cropping plans.

For fall pasture, there is a problem of Hessian fly to be considered with wheat. So, if you use a wheat variety that is not resistant to Hessian fly, you'll be forced to plant late enough that fall pasture will be out of the picture. However, Dual and Monon are soft wheats that are highly resistant to the fly and can be planted early. Ponca is a hard wheat that has considerable fly resistance, too.

Remember where you plan to get fall pasture, you won't be able to seed on acres diverted from the feed - grain program.

Those acres fit in well to seed with small grain for a grain crop next year, but since they can't be pastured or harvested before Jan. 1, 1962, your small grains for pasture will need to be planted on other fields.

For the most fall pasture, you will want to seed these small grains in late August or early September. Rye can be seeded a little earlier than barley or wheat because seedlings seem to stand hot weather a bit better.

So give fall pasture needs some thought. If small grain pasture will help fill your needs, start preparing the ground, get a soil test to guide fertilizing, and line up seed supplies right away.

Plane Crash Legal Suits Are Settled

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The U.S. government Monday agreed to pay $85,000 in settlement of a suit growing out of the death of a son of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in a 1958 plane crash.

Two other claims growing out of the same crash were settled at the same time—the three for a total of $210,000.

James H. McClellan, a Little Rock lawyer; Harold K. Gilbert of Stuttgart, Ark.; Jesse Ralph Williams, Little Rock; and William H. Hill, an examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Administration were killed when their plane crashed near Conway, Ark., July 22, 1958.

All except Hill were seeking licenses as multi-engine pilots. McClellan was at the controls.

Gilbert's estate received $69,500 in the compromise, approved by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Smith Henley, and Williams' estate received $55,000.

Widows of McClellan, Gilbert and Williams, who originally sought a total of $3.2 million, contended Hill was negligent in his supervision of the trainees.

The government maintained McClellan was at fault.

The teen-agers ran away from the McCune Home for Boys in Jackson County Aug. 4 and were captured Aug. 6 at Rogers, Ark.

At their preliminary hearing in Kansas City Monday, an FBI agent said the boys admitted:

Stealing a car at Peculiar, Mo.; stealing a shotgun and two rifles from a farmhouse south of Butler, Mo.; robbing a man of his car at Rich Hill, Mo.; and robbing an Arkansas service station of $170.

Being held under $3,500 bond each are Billy Hand, 15; Bill Holland, 14; Robert Springs, 16; Carlton Eaton, 14, and Francis Haywood, 16.

A Massive Red Conspiracy Is Outlined In US

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A high ranking member of the John Birch Society said Monday night is seizing control of America.

Fred C. Koch, Wichita business man and a council member of the society, addressed about 1,000 persons at a meeting sponsored by the Northeast Johnson County Women's Republican Club at the Shawnee-Mission East High School.

He said the Reds are eroding American universities, churches, political parties, entertainment media, the State Department and the United Nations.

"Maybe you don't want to be controversial by getting mixed up in this anti-communist battle," Koch said. "But you won't be very controversial lying in a ditch with a bullet in your brain."

Goldwater Says Liberals Are Being Confused

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Monday night liberals are becoming confused and frustrated because the conservatives are hanging a "Socialist" label on them.

Goldwater, a spokesman for Republican conservatives, said in a speech prepared for a county political rally, that the people "are beginning to recognize the inherent danger of central government control."

"It is becoming harder and harder for American liberals to explain away the fact that the programs they advocate are moving us closer to the kind of central government control encompassed by socialism and that the socializing of societies plays into the hands of the Communists," he said.

Goldwater added: "No American likes to be called a Socialist or to think that something he espouses is kindred to communism."

Boys Explore Storm Sewers, Cause Search

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Three boys, exploring storm sewers the last couple of days, caused a flurry of excitement Monday.

Someone saw the boys, equipped with searchlights, canteens and a knife, enter a catch basin that leads to a sewer 40 feet underground.

Police, firemen and city street crews started searching, fearing the boys might be overcome by sewer gas.

Fireman Lawrence Talkin donned an oxygen mask, tied a rope around his waist and descended into the dank depths.

About that time Detective Michael Koska, about 10 blocks away, saw a manhole cover raise and a head emerge in front of his car.

"I slammed on the brakes and skidded toward the manhole," Koska said. "I managed to stop just three feet from the boy."

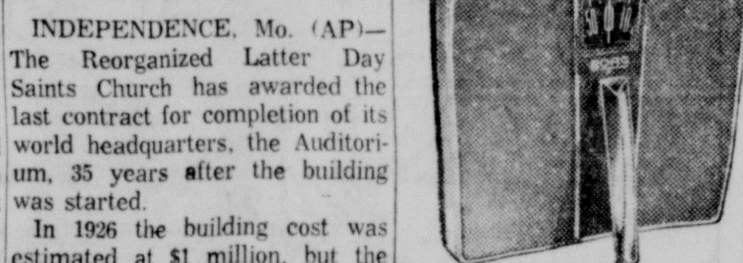

The youngster was Adell Collins, 14. He said his buddies, William Minter, 16, and Robert Garza, 15, had emerged from the same manhole earlier.

The boys said they had resumed their exploration where they left off Sunday.
